When the filter ratio and the the ifmap ratio increased, the bandwidth decreases, because we have a larger space to store the operand data. The stall cycle increased as the increase of ifmap ratio because once we need new data from lower level memory, the lower level SRAM's size is decreased, so we need stall more cycle to fetch data from Dram.